Dear Mr. Sieger:

Recent evidence of high bacterial counts, and quantities of fats, oils and grease at Chicago area beaches have caused health officials to order those beaches closed. The United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) is attempting to determine if sewer overflows and discharges from your system and/or other systems may be contributing to the presence of these materials.

The enclosed Findings and Order requires you to produce certain information in writing or during an appearance at the offices of U.S. EPA. Please address any written correspondence to the Enforcement Division, Attention: Compliance Section. Should you decide to request an appearance, please contact Ms. Jane E. Schulteis of my staff at (312) 353-2094.

Very truly yours,

Sandra S. Gardebring
Director, Enforcement Division
